

EmpressRed gets a bang from previous M3SonicShowDown winners New World Side Order.

M3Radio Announces Special FREE Indie Video Contest

The recently completed M3SonicShowDown Indie Music Video Contest was the first in a series of contests sponsored by M3Radio, Mia Mind Music and Hot Indie Media. It's hosted by M3Radio weblebrity EmpressRed and entries will be accepted until January 15th, 2010. Submissions are available to for viewing, rating and commenting at www.Youtube.com/M3SonicShowDown from January 16th – February 14th. The winner will be announced on February 16th.

As a special Holiday gift designed to give back to the Indie Artist community there will be ABSOLUTELY NO SUBMISSION FEE! That's right, all entry fees will be paid for by The Mia Mind Music/Hot Indie Media Independent Artist Fund. Why? Because, according to EmpressRed, 'tis the season when it's better to give than receive. Contest rules and entry forms are available at <http://www.m3radio.com/contest.php>. Viewers can vote with their eyes, ears and crafty comments on the anti-MTV music video entries that may have you scratching your head, singing along and maybe even LOL.

Even the renowned Internet encyclopedia "Wikipedia" offers information about what is becoming one of the fastest growing Indie Artists events in our galaxy (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/M3SonicShowDown>) or any other. You can even add your own facts and observations to the Wikipedia page.

The fastest growing anti-MTV independent artists' video event in our galaxy is free to see and what you see is uniquely free. You don't have to be on MTV, VH1, BET or Fuse TV to be an artist. All you need to do is create your work of art and allow the Universe to watch it in the next M3SonicShowDown Indie Music Video Contest.
